Dear friends,

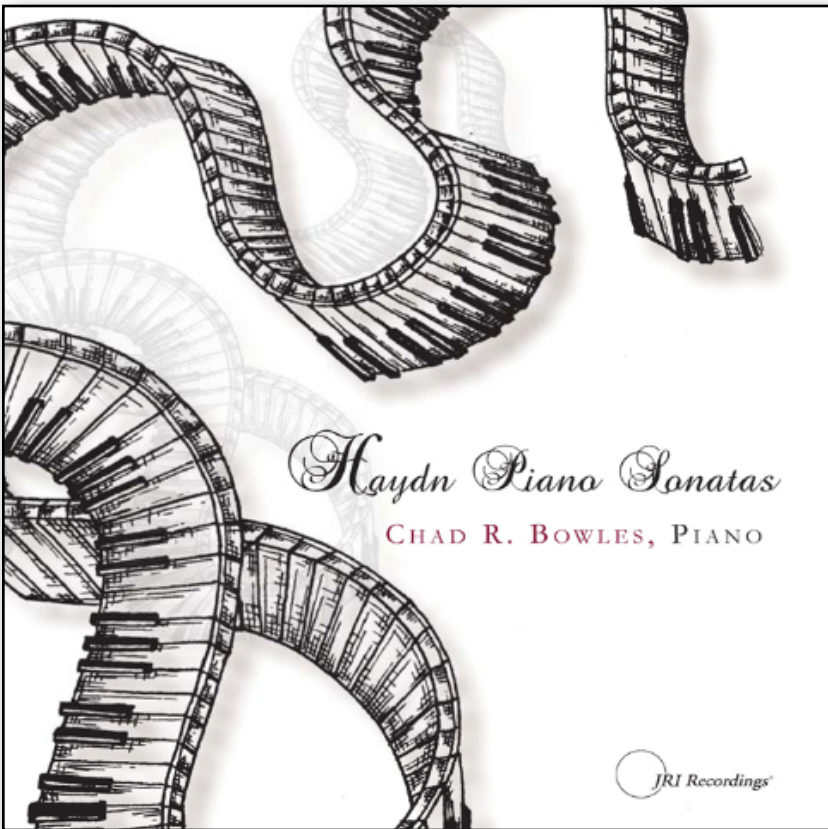

I hope this newsletter finds you well.

The past year has been one filled with wonderful experiences and adventures. I performed over 25 recitals for audiences all over the country, and something that struck me in all of these concerts: Classical music is alive and well! Audiences are enthusiastic, kind, warm, and just wonderful in every way. Thank you ALL for making what I do so rewarding!

I'd like to let you know about two exciting news items. First, the redesigned website. Visit www.chadrbowles.com and check it out! Second, my first commercial recording, which will be released on the JRI Recordings label on November 15th. This is a CD I had great fun making - the sessions were comfortable, the piano great, and the hall even better! Not to mention the incredible work of the recording engineer (who is also a great friend.) I absolutely adore the music, as many of you who have been to my recitals this year know, and I hope you will all get a copy to enjoy yourselves!

Here's to a great 2009/2010 season. I hope to see you at a concert this year!

Best wishes,
